1-2pm

3-5pm

8* Casa Duno: Prescribed Meanings
Prescribed Meanings will feature artists who examine how we assign meaning to objects, how objects serve as mediators in our interactions with others, and how, through our relationships with things, we begin to understand ourselves and the world around us. Time: Ongoing; opening reception 3-5pm.

9* Happy Collaborationists present: Jesus Mejia & Ruth: Acts Upon Us; a portrait of light and wind
Collaborators Jesus Mejia & Ruth catalogue the affinity between motion and stillness in their sculpture, Acts Upon Us; a portrait of light and wind. The artists find themselves between motions: a pile of sand transcribes the blowing wind, and a mirror reflects the waning light. Without permission, the individual is moved by all else; a beautiful inevitability. Time: Sunset (approx. 5pm according to an online sunset estimator) happycollaborationists.com

5-7pm

10* Roofless Records at Logan Square Comfort Station

A sound piece by Erica Gressman and live video mix by Katie Torn. The first installment of a month-long mini video and performance festival curated by Dana Basset. Time: 5-7pm.

16* itsa_pony! projects:
PJ Party Drop-in
Brunchfest

Whether you are in your PJ's or last night's party dress, forestall the morning-after walk of shame and come on over to my house between 6am and noon, where I will be serving a hair of the dog, hangover breakfast essentials, and post-festival gossip all morning long. Donation suggested. Time: 6am-12pm
